NARRATIVE

Dr. Guarino graduated from Boston College with a degree in Biology.

He furthered his dental studies, and additional Prosthodontics specialization at Tufts University, and was recognized with an Award for Outstanding Achievement by the International College of Dentists.

A practicing clinician in Boston (West Roxbury) since 1976, Dr. Guarino's practice focus has been initially centered on prosthodontics, and since 1992, has increasingly included implant surgery and implant prosthodontics.

Dr. Guarino has been awarded fellowships by the American College of Oral Implantology and International Congress of Oral Implantology.

Between 2017 and 2018, Dr. Guarino had the privilege to assist with an implantology group practice, focusing on complex implant cases and complications.

At this time, Dr. Guarino remains dedicated to restorative and regenerative dentistry in practice and is teaching as an instructor at Harvard Dental School. He has enjoyed lecturing nationally and internationally.

In his free time, Dr. Guarino enjoys woodworking, and gardening.
